Like patient Men, they presently agree.

Four times will the two great Lamps of Heaven be obscured this Year, twice will the Sun be hid from the Earths Inhabitants, and twice will the Moon loose her borrowed Light.

The first Eclipse will be of the Moon on February the 20th, an hour before Noon, and therefore invisible to us.

The second is of the Sun, March the 10th at one in the Morning, and therefore invisible.

The third is of the Moon, on August the 19th, about three in the Morning, and may be seen in the West part of the Meridian, at London.

The fourth and last is of the Sun, on September 12 about three in the Morning, and therefore invisible.

JOHN PARTRIDGE

An Induction to the following Kalendar.

I Mpartial Reader, enter, do not spare,
Turn o're the Leaf, and see my Kalendar.
Read this Page first, for here I'll be so kind,
To tell thee what before thou shalt not find.
Consider well, read with a careful Eye,
If this afflicts thy Conscience, throw it by.
First, there's no Malice to affront the State,
Nor canting terms for any captious Pate.
No foisted Notions to amuse, I write,
No, nor shall e're my teffles Pen indite
No Popish Rubrick, Mass, nor such like Stuff,
No Rome-born Engine here receives its proof.
No Miracle from thence my Pen shall paint,
No traiterous Martyr, no nor bloody Saint,
No clear Confession, nor Good Fryday Tears,
No Faith and Troth with Sword and Bandileers.
Call't by what name you please, that Faith's not good,
That first Converts, and then builds up in Blood.
But utrum horum amas, so proceed,
If this contents thee, then turn o're and read.

January hath XXXI days,

Gird up thy Loyns my Mule, for Storms appear,
And Clouds apace spread through this Hemisphere.
The blackest Night brings in the following day,
And Clouds that yet grow thicker, may away.

Go tell him, late Repentance will not do,
Let Law pay Sin, that's the Transgessors due.

Mars in the Virgin is by Titan Courted,
Yet Venus shan't at First, but quickly parted.
Saturn abuseth Saturn (though his Lord)
And straight seeks Indoors under Mars his Sword.
Sol triunes with Jove in the Grecian Twins,
Near the Bell's Eyeard and furthe Dance begins.

Princes wear Emblems, Crosses on their Crowns.

Roman Account.

The twenty second day the wounding Moon,
Suffers a small Eclipse, near our Noon ;
Mars then opposeth Sol and Stilbon too,
Stilbon squares Jove, Venus fetves Saturn so.
Winds blow up storms, and they distil in drops,
Thus Natures actions exercise our Hopes.

Resplendant Sol doth in the Bull appear,
And condescends to meet young Saturn there;
Venus is joyn'd to Jove in Gemini,
And Famous London finds their Amiry.

Yet all's not right, they oppose th' same degree,
O'th' last Conjunctions place in sixty three.

SIMON SAYS now what news, and strait appears
His Sister comes, full with frights and fears.
They are in consternation, and all agree to call
The Junta to consult, their Cabal;
And so they will to whispering go,
Lest their counsels should their forces know.

Monthly Observations.

- 13 0 The great Councils of Europe are diversly 12
29 0 employed. some are only for defence; others 13
310 5 for offence, and some for no action at all un- 14
411 10 less it be to do injustice. Saturn is in Cancer, 15

72 10 cious divided Councils with fruitless indica- 18

93 45 Mars in Virgo keeps company with Jove in 20
104 25 55 a square-aspect, this provides matter for some 21
114 55 Months following. Flanders hath strange fears 22

135 55 lous without a cause, for near these times 24
146 30 10 they may expect a griping in their bowels, 25
157 10 which will be as dangerous as a Dysentery. 26

 The ground whereof is enight nature abhors to dream on it.
 Those words were first written by the great truth who said,
 Fair words above all other words, above all pleasant words,
 That man is longe in his life, but shorte in his age,
 This world is full of trouble, but full of pleasure,
 His head and hands are full of trouble, but his heart is full of pleasure.

He that contends with an Adversary, fate
 Buys his own rest, and dear price paid,
 For when the strife is over, he is won,
 The patient soul takes cheer. When long it last,
 What care the sun doth his quietness invading,
 Fate gives that reward which is due but is void.

Heavens Glories; And the Eye of Nature
And in the Earth's deep bosom hid.
Sat urn benum'd, and Jove's high mind
Resolves with rage to shake the Earth,
For honour Mars new commands him; And
Hope's own swelling pride.

November hath XXX Days.

Give me a good life, that I may be a good man.
Are the best conditions deciding on us?
Let's strengthen our nature, moderate our
To roborate my confidence and self-reliance.
My hopes are raised, and my will is made.
And my great heart is zealous in my work.
With a full heart, I leave the world, but I leave it Satisfied.

November 1681.

Give me a good Petition
Begs his protection, for he's a good fellow
[Though born of Mars] he's a gentle knight,
To keep us in quietness and peace,
Hence there's no continual carnal happiness,
Mars frowns at you, by a malapropos say,
A hand full of gold, a man's life may buy
The Sword and Gown contend, let's see fair play.

Day	Month Observations	Date
Jan. R.
13 45	This Month agrees with a face of seeming satisfaction, and things and affairs seem to please all sorts of persons; for Councils are managed with that policy and prudence, that for a time none either do or are willing to shew their dislike of them. -- See Minerva	12
24 2	for Saturn Stationary upon the place of the last Conjunction, some famous old grave Statesman to his Ne plus ultra, and soon after he is applied to by Venus her Sonday and the Lady of the sixth, seventh and eleventh at the last New Moon, this shews some impeachments or accusation against some man of Authority, who hath been concerned in the publick business of Kingdoms, yet this doth not make way for some further accusations of more dangerous consequence, and what will you lay if the nexte is alledged by one of his own Servants.	23
34 55	Jupiter hastening to Mars his opposition to his Retrograde motion, shews some difference between a zealous Divine, and a	24
45 25	Sword-man; but before the difference can be healed, one of them will submit to the grave.	25

December hath XXXI Days.

Time [Nature's Midwife] hath an active face,
And constitutions now go on apace.
Things seem agreeing to prepare the way
For Jews' conversion, and great Rom's decay.
Yet 'tis a worknoftime; yet time will do it,
When all the Nations give least credid to it.

December, 1681.

Saturn is got into the Royal Chair
 Yet Jove and Mars claims a large portion of it.
 And Ceres, Juno, and Minerva have no share of it.
 Mars sends to him his shield and his spear,
 To let him know he is fit to be King of the world.
 Hot Jove, who is now King of the world,
 Let Europe know he is fit to be King of the world.
 After this great change will follow another
 Which will stir the world again.

An Introduction to the following Predictions,
all in Verse.

G od save you all, pardon my petty Crimes,
How fare you Friends, these plaguy pestrous Times.
When Truth by Falshood's kickt from Door-to Door,
And like a Bankrupt broke, she'th lost her Pow'r,
The antient Faith's remov'd from the old Road,
And Villany is only Alamode.
The Orphans, and the Widows crys won't do,
Kingdoms destructions are but small things now.
The World's vast Orb's disorder'd, shivesing fits
In Paroxysms, often shakes by fits,
For fear of Ruine ; Tush, for by and by
After these things, comes the Fifth Monarchy.
Kind Countrey-men, I here present in Verse
The Starry Language, Astrologick guess ;
And that it may your furious Fancy still,
Let Jove and sweet Minerva charm my Quill.
And may my Labours due success inherit,
Like David's Harp, that charm'd Saul's troubled Spirit,
'Twas Cruel Stars disguis'd the antient Dress,
Of Europe's Peace, and England's Happiness.
They banish'd Joy, and over-spread with fear,
Our strange new metamorphos'd Hemisphere :
And sent us State Divines, and shaven Crowns,
With Owls, French Apes, short Swords, and Pantaloons;
Whoredom and Blood, poor we sink under both,
And every Boy swears the Prophetick Oath.
In this Apostate Age, what don't we doe ;
We've lost our Vigour, Names, and Nature too,
Yet may some Sparks remain of British Will,
A Po— of all French Modes, we're English still.
Well, take a hearty Prayer, if that will do,
God give us Grace, Time, and Repentance too.

Astrological Predictions

PREDICTIONS.

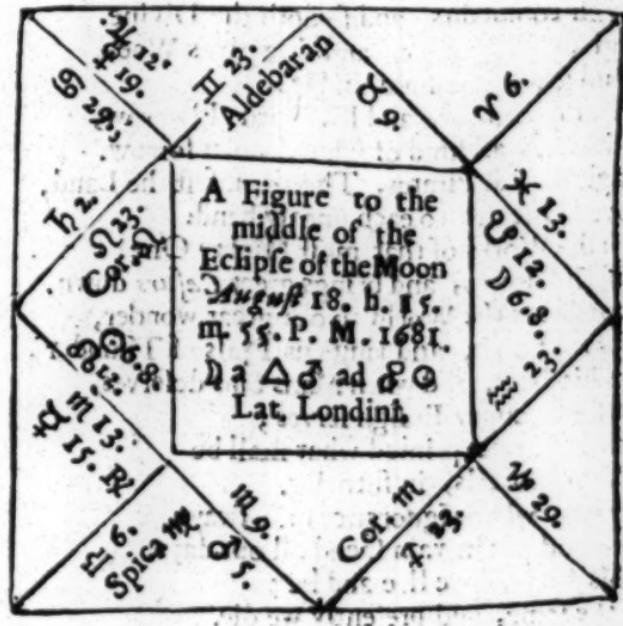

Come, Come great Souls, neer mind your Sins,
Hang Fate and Fear, the game begins.
Are not you back'd with Sovereign Laws,
And wont ye defend the Holy Cause ?
See sacred Joye in-Square with Mars,
He speaks down-right of Holy Wars.
O ! Fie what wicked times are these,
When Men give things what Names they please.
Rumors, and strange Reports do fly,
And still Religion's all the cry.
One fears the Setts, another Rome,
A third swears Turk and Pope must down ;
Let them contend, God's Will be done.

Mighty Contentions, great ones die,
The Gout prevails, the Lord lies by
New Embassies, and yet perhaps
They fruitless prove, Priests cock their Caps.
The Gown would fain grow greater still;
If so, 'tis against Mary's Will:
Yet Venus labours might and main,
To make them all good Friends again.
Let Soldiers Fight, and Parsons Pray;
Statesmen contend from day to day.
Let Rage with Reason angry be,
This good old Rule's a Rule for me.

Astrological Predictions.

PREDICTIONS.

AT this Eclipse two angry Stars appear,
Mars to old Saturn gives his hateful Square.
Hence follows Quarrels [as their proper Caufe]
Some for the Sword, some for the Kingdoms Laws
To be decided by, not only so,
But work goes forward, for th' Physicians too ;
The Humors they contend, and like the Sea,
By Floods and Ebbs, preserve their Harmony.
Nature still acts to bring her work about,
Mars gives the Pox, but Saturn gives the Gout.
The Sea's unruly, and to shew her Pow'r
Or'e flows the Banks, and finds her self a-shoar.
The Land's uneasy too, the Folk repine,
The Plough complains, and so doth the Divine.
Trouble gives Discontent, and that gives Woe,
Clergy and grave Civilians find it so;
Jundine's my Author, and his Words I borrow,
Says he, it gives all kind of Church-men sorrow.
Sea's plagu'd with Pirates, Theeves infest the Land,
Ease proves Disease, to each uneasy hand.
These are the Works of that most Mighty One
That raifeth Clowns, and brings great Casars down.
'Tis he conserves the World to our great wonder,
He sweeps the Earth, and rings us Peals of Thunder ;
He draws his Bow, and when Mans Sins deserves,
A Comet for an angry Ensign serves ;
And in his Banner's printed what shall be
Dispens'd to Mortals, in futurity.
Unhappy we, whom Ignorance or e-fways,
We hope, and yet in vain spend all our days,
'Tis but his fiat, and we live and be ;
'Tis but the same, and presently we die.

PREDICTIONS.

Make room for high and mighty things,
And hear what News the Seven brings.

Europe must be the Theater

On which each Gamester plays his share;

The Players meet, consult within

How things must go, when they begin.

The Play is old, Time proves that true,

Some Words with Poet's only new.

The Heavens they consult, and then

Send forth their Acts, to punish Men.

Empires waver, Dukedoms totter,

Holy Church is out of Order,

Astrological Predictions, &c.

She hath Prayers to furnish you,
But in her own case they'll not do.
The World's disorder'd, Truth is stranded,
Councils Clash, thus things are bandied.
States are fickle, Kingdoms weary,
Frenzys they make mad Men merry.
Yet, some laugh, while others wonder
Who climbs first, or first comes under.
How these things will end, and when
And how the Fates infatuate Men.
How things can be brought to Union,
If so, then by what Dominion.
Cautious questions rise beside,
And Rome must be a Polyfide.
Treasure's spent, and Wealth's exhausted,
Time and Reputation's wasted.
To cheat by Law some never blush,
For honesty's not worth a Rush.
Some Jeft, but none in earnest can
Question the Laws of God and Man.
Deem all things Just, where power's strong
I'll have it, be it right or wrong.
These be the facts of Rage and Lust,
Which sober Men can ne'er call Just.

Well!

Let them be mad, but us, increase
In Faith, and Piar, in Love and Peace:
Pray for them too, if 'tis your Nature;
If not, 'tis not a Farthing matter.

The Grounds and Principles of Physick, briefly handled three ways, i. e. Chymically, Galenically and Astrologically.

Physick, was at first invented for a relief to Nature, and therefore the Physician is by Galen called Minister Naturae, for he by observing her motion & vestiges, may give assistance to Nature, ease to his Patient, and duration to Life, and to each of these doth the administration of Physick tend, in the true and Genuine use thereof.

And the whole Practice of Physick is laid down by Hippocrates briefly, and yet fully in the second Aphorism of his first Section. When he saye, In Perturbationibus ventricis & vomitionibus sponte factis, si quidam qualia aperire purgari, purgantur, confort, & facile ferunt, si vero non, contrarium. Sic & vasorum vacatio, si quidam qualia fieri aportent, fiat, confort, & facile ferunt, si vero non, contrarium. Inspicere autem oportet regionam, & annus tempus, & etatem, & morbos in quibus convenerit aut non. — In English thus — In the Perturbations of the Belly and spontaneous Vomits, if those Humors which ought to be purged, are purged, it gives ease, and they easily bear it, but if not, the contrary. So in the emptying of the Vessels, if that which ought to be done, is done, it gives ease, and they easily bear it, but if not, the contrary ; yet the Physician ought to consider the Region, the time of the Year, the Age, and the Disease, whether they agree or not. A Treatise might be writ upon this Aphorism, by way of Comment, but I will only add a few Lines for the better understanding of it, and so leave it : for to some Men, perhaps at the first sight, it may seem beneath its Worth and Value, for the Aphorisms of Hippocrates, are not to be understood at the first reading of them, and that made Craso say, that a Physician might Practice twenty years before he understood Hippocrates well, in his Aphorisms. By these spontaneous Perturbations of the Stomach and Belly, he means, any disturbance in the Body, by which Nature is compelled to cast out her Enemy, either by Vomit, Stool, Urine, &c. and according as she begins her motion so she is to be assisted : hence, if a regular course be taken, and those Humors which ought to be purged, are purged, ged, the Patient then finds ease and relief, other ways not : So that all Evacuations ought to be of the peccant humor, because that is the cause of the Disease, and this is the meaning of his salia, & qualia, for by those words we are to understand the noxious humor as well complicated as per se, i.e. first in quality, which is excessum or the excess of some particular malignant humor, or else in quantity, which is excedens or an equal redundant of all, and doth require Phlebotomy to abate the Humors equally, but the former seems to call for Purgation, which doth discharge other Humors particularly besides Blood, which agrees well to Galens Doctrine, when he says, Contrairea semper contraria sunt curanda, & similia similibus conservanda; yet there are some who understand this salia & qualia in another sense, i.e. not of the peccant humor only, but such a Fermentation and Concoction, that after it according to time place and quantity, Nature doth discharge her self spontaneously of all that oppresseth her, but I am rather inclined to the former, because it agrees to several Aphorisms besides, in this Section, but especially the last, and in the Greek the word is derived from xwds vacum, which comprehends all Evacuation whether of Purging or Bleeding, so it be for the emptying and abating the offending Humor. But when his advice is, to consider the Country, time of the Year, age of the Patient, and Disease; he here includes the whole Body of practical Physick, for Countries have their various Diseases and Infirmities, and therefore the Physician ought to consider, whether it be Natural or Supernatural, Endemical or Sporadic, proper or common, &c. Yet our Author in these words, chiefly intends Purging and Bleeding, for in the hot Countries where Hippocrates lived, as Greece, &c. Bleeding is far more safe and plausible than in England and more Northwards; [nay in France Bleeding is far more necessary than in England, and indeed it is used more there, by which it comes to pass that the French Quacks do kill many People among us, by their unreasonable Bleedings; and to say the truth, an ordinary French Butcher, will make an admirable good Physician among many of my Country Folks — but if Negro's, Monkeys and Parian should breed amongst us, you may be sure Persons of Quality would not entertain them.] So Physick requires larger Doses in those Countries than here; by reason our Air is thick and dense, and compresseth the Pores, which in these Countries are generally open, by reason of the rarity of the Air.

The Fundamentals of Physick.

By

by John Partridge.

By the time of the Year, 'tis plain he means what part of Heaven the Sun is in, with what violent fixed Stars, &c. for in divers places in his Book de Aere, Aquis & locis, he gives many Astrological Cautions, especially about the rising and setting of the Cæstus, the Pleiades and Arcturus; also in his fourth Secta. And fifth Aphorism, Sub cane & ante canem difficiles sunt purgationes. And Rovarius records some unhappy accidents that have happened upon such times in his Observations, with whom Fonsca also agrees; then how can any Physician practise well without the knowldg of Astrology.

That Age is to be considered in all Physick and Physical Prescripts, is sufficiently known to all that have been conversant in the administering thereof: for indeed all things hurt in Quantity, but not in Quality.

Yet there are other things that Age also ought to be considered in, as Children, Women, Old, and Young; to which purpose Galen himself forbids Blood-letting, both to Children and old Folks, and this without any exception or other qualification to his Precept.

But this Regionem, Annis tempus, Etatem, & morbos, may be taken thus, setting Hippocrates was so great an Astrologer, Regio may signify the Elevation of the Pole at Birth, or the place of Birth; Annis tempus, the time when the Patient was born; Etatem the Revolution under which he labours; and Morbos the Disease considered from the Decumbiture, and compared with the Chrysis, &c. this also seems rational and consentaneous to the Principles of Hippocrates.

These were the ancient Theoretical Principles, which were generally owned by the old Physicians, and are still by our Modern also in part. But now Physick, like Faith, is a Slave to Opinion, and every Man knows of his own Fashion; So that now it brancheth it self forth into three distinct parts, called Chymical, Galenical, and Astrological, of these in their Order,—and first of the CHYMICAL.

The Basis and Foundation of Chymical Philosophy, is those three Hypostatick Principles, Salt, Sulphur, and Mercury, and from these come all those divisions and distinctions of Humors,

The Fundamentall of Physick.

mers, and Qualities in Man, as Salts and Acids, Corosives and Balsamicks, Fixt and Volatile, Tartars, Arsenicales, Vitriolates, Armoniacks, &c. Hence, to salve the Phenomenon, or lay a Basis and Scheme of Causes for all Diseases, they have a six-fold division of each of the three Hypostatick Principles——for there is——

1. Sulphur Sulphurosum, in Nature like our common Sulphur, inflammable. 2. Sulphur Vinosum, that is the pure and lively Spirit of Nature. 3. Sulphur Stibiale, this causeth Vomitings and Gripings at the Stomach. 4. Sulphur Eruginosum, this stirs up bloody Fluxes, Vomitings, &c. 5. Sulphur Cinabrinum, 'tis Malignant and Corosive, it causeth Inflammations, Pustles, Malignant Feavers, &c. 6. Sulphur Arsenicale, a peysonous Humor which causeth dangerous Feavers, small Pox, Fluxes, &c. and this method is also kept in Mercury.

First, Mercurius Mercurialis, a kind of Serum which causeth Coughs, Dropes, Catarrhs, Rheumatisms, &c. 2. Mercurius Balsamicus, 'tis the Humidum Radicale, or Fountain of Life. 4. Mercurius Glutinosus, a tough tenacious matter causing Obstructions. 4. Mercurius Lenaris, a thin clear Humor which if it abounds it offendeth the Brain. 5. Mercurius Acetosus an acid humor which attenuates and makes Bodies lean and sometimes causeth Gripings. 6. Mercurius Glacialis, a kind of a glassy Humor, dense and clear, which doth abate the Serum,——then they have their Salts thus divided also——as

1. Sal Salsum, a fluid brackish Humor which causeth Thirst and makes our Spittle salt. 2. Sal Dulce, this is the Vinulum vita which unites the Sulphur Vinosum and the Mercurius Balsamicus, and so makes that Vividum Natura or the grand Archon of Life. 3. Sal Aluminosum it causeth Obstructions and Constipations of the Bowels. 4. Sal Nitrosum, this dissolves the Principles of Life and brings in the Scorbute, Dropes and ill Habits, &c. 5. Sal Vitriolatum, this causeth Rheumarism, Catarrhs, Ulcers of the Lungs, Kidnies, &c. 6. Sal Armoniacale which causeth devouring Phagedenick Ulcers, Gangreens, &c. From the various mixtures of these Humors, are all Diseases [according to Chymical Philosophy] caused in the Body of Man, which Hippocrates seems to approve off, in his Book de retra medicina, where he says, Non enim siccum, neque humidum, neque calidum, neque frigidum, neque aliud quicquam ex his putaverunt hominem latere, and a little after he says, inest in homi- homine & amarum, & salsum, & dulce, & acidum, & acerbum, & fluidum, & alia infinita, &c. their Method in healing is generally by Deopilatives, Salts, Extracts, Elixirs, Spirits, Tinctures, Minerals, Mettals, &c.

Of Galenical Physick.

Galenical Physick is built upon the old Principles and Method of Peripatetical Philosophy, that is, Matter, Form and Privation, and the four Elemental Principles of Fire, Water, Air, and Earth; hence they draw their causes of Diseases, from Cold, Heat, Dryness, and Moisture, which they call Qualities. These four are again divided into two parts, Active and Passive, Cold and Heat being called Active Principles, and Dryness and Moisture Passive, and they are called Active and Passive, because in Generation, &c. they are not equally disposed, for Heat and Cold appear to be the principal Agents therein, the other two being but Derivatives, Dryness from Heat, and Moisture from Cold.

From these primary Qualities thus understood, are derived fourteen other secondary Qualities, as Density, Rarity, Gravity, Lenity, Aridity, Friability, Lubricity, Asperity, Subtilty, Lasciviousness, Hardness, Softness, Grossness, Glutinousness. These Qualities by the help and operation of the Faculties of Nature, [i. e. Retention, Expulsion, Digestion and Attraction] do alter and change the Body from Health to Sicknes, &c. contra, and do produce those various kinds of Diseases, called Sanguine, Coleric, Melancholly, and Phlegmatick, which are diagnostically known by their manifest Symptoms and Accidents.

After all these comes in their occult Qualities, or rather their ne plus ultra, a kind of Monster that protects Ignorance, and serves for a Cloud to hide and prevent further inquiry, but this Monster, occult Qualities in our days, begins to be detected and lookt upon as a Bubble, and therefore disowned by the more learned and ingenious.

Their Medicines are generally Infusions, Apozems, Ptifans, cold Julips, medicated Broths, Decoctions, Electuaries, and all kind of Hydroticks,— and their Method consists chiefly in Bleeding, Purging, Baths and Glisters, &c. with such like which are sufficiently known to all.

Of

Of the Astrological practice of Physick,

Physick astrologically practised is a Method distinct from both these, and yet the Method and Medicines of both may be profitably and effectually used according to the discretion of the Artist. For the main busines of Astrology is to search out the Nature of the Disease, whether Melancholly or Cholerick, &c. in what part of the Body it lies, and whether curable or not, and all this may be known [without seeing the Patient] by an Astrological Question, Soberly and rationally propounded by any one belonging to the Patient, and when this is known, it is no hard matter to find and apply a Medicine, 'tis no matter whether it is Chymical or Galenical. — And to do this,

The first and main thing, if it can be had, is the Patients Nativity, and thence find the direction [if there is any] that is the cause of the Disease, if not, the Revolution, which the several Transits and Returns of the Planets, but especially of Saturn, Jupiter, and Mars, the Configuration of the Luminaries with them, &c. but if this cannot be had, then accept of the Decumbiture, and thence draw your Judgment by comparing it with the figure of your Question, if it be propounded as is before specified. And to give you a glimpse of its Nature and Method, take these few Rules following.

For if in your Figure Saturn and ♃ is in the Horoscope, the Patient is certainly disturbed in his Head; and if Saturn happeneth to be the Lord of the Eighth and Peregrine, he will as certainly die, especially if the Moon is in any evil Aspect to him there; Saturn in the sixth and the Moon in a fixed Sign, tells you it will be a long Chronical Disease; the Moon applying to a ♂, ☐ or ♀ of the Lord of the eighth, threatens Death when the Aspect is compleat, but if they are separated, the Patient will recover, if there is no other bad Position, which the Artist will soon discover.

In all Purges, let them not be given when the Moon is in ♀ of Jupiter or Venus, for they will not then work. In giving Sudorifics, give them in the hour of Jupiter, Sol, or Venus, the Moon being also well applying, but in Narcoticks, let them be exhibited in the hour of Jupiter or Venus, for then their Effects will be most

by John Partridge.

most effectual. But for these things have recourse to my Vade Mecum, the third part, where it discourses of Election.

But in all things take care of the Lord of the tenth, for he is significator of the Medicine, therefore let him not be afflicted in the eighth House, at the giving of it, for the consequence will be evil.

The Medicines of this Method are various, and may be used according to the discretion of the Physician, either Chymical or Galenical.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Whereas there hath lately started up several pretenders to the Spirit of Scurvy-Grass, the only true Spirits thereof, both plain and the golden purging, are those publish'd by Robert Bassman, who was the first Author, and for many years hath faithfully prepared the same, being highly approved and famous for their admirable Cures in the Scurvy, Dropsy, and several other Distempers. To be sold at his House in Pant's Chain, near Doctors Commons London, and most eminent Towns in the Country, with printed Directions for their use. The Bottles are all sealed with his Coat of Arms, the half Moon and Ermines to prevent Counterfeits; Price 1 s. each Bottle.

There is now ready for the Press, an Anatomical Treatise of the Muscles, written by John Brown Chirurgeon in Ordinary to his Majesty, and will be published Easter-Term next. Such therefore as will subscribe thereto upon the Proposals published, may be furnished therewith according to the time mentioned therein; which Proposals may be had at the Chirurgeons Arms, next the Golden Posts at Charing-Cross, or at Apothecaries Hall. By Francis Condy, who is ready to receive them, and give a printed Receipt for the same.
